How do I know which vehicle is right for me?

When selecting a rental vehicle, take into consideration where you will be travelling, how many people will be travelling in the vehicle, luggage size and the kind of driving you intend to do. Auto Europe offers a vast range of vehicles from small economy sizes to larger full-sized cars, 4WDs, convertibles and luxury vehicles. The ACRISS system above will help you find a car that suits your needs. This is an internationally recognised code which will ensure you get the same standard of vehicle wherever you rent.

As a general rule of thumb, smaller cars are better in most European countries, as some roads were made before the general use of cars, so lanes can be very narrow and winding. Diesel can save you money on fuel costs and can be requested for hire and guaranteed for an additional cost.

Automatic and Manual Transmissions

Both automatic and manual vehicles are available Germany. Automatic vehicles are generally more expensive than manual cars and may be scarcer at smaller depots.

Do I need a credit card to collect my vehicle?

Yes. A credit card will be needed when collecting, which will be used for a security bond. The deposit is generally the insurance excess of the rental car which depends on the category of vehicle you have booked and the rate type.

Should I hire a GPS for driving in Germany?

GPS units can also be requested direct with some supplier. This will be at their own rates.

Collecting at an airport in Germany

At most German airports, rental companies will have a desk in the arrivals hall and vehicles will be located within walking distance. However, at smaller airports you may be required to collect your vehicle from a downtown depot. Usually a courtesy transfer will be provided from the airport to the depot in this instance. Auto Europe New Zealand offers all-inclusive prices which generally include any location/airport fees that may otherwise apply. Remember to check at time of booking to ensure your rental price will include all airport fees.

Rental Vehicle Insurance

Rental Vehicle Insurance

German law requires all vehicles to have Compulsory Third Party (CTP) insurance, although your car rental supplier should already have comprehensive insurance covering their vehicles. In the case of an accident, it must be reported to the insurance provider immediately and an excess will be due.

Car hire companies in Germany will normally include:

- Third Party Insurance and Compulsory Insurance: This will be included in your car hire price. This covers other people's injury and any damage to their vehicle.
- Collision Damage Waiver (CDW): This limits your financial liability for damage to the rented vehicle and is normally included in prepaid car hire prices. Rentals are usually subject to liability excess, which can be reduced at the time you collect your rental car or by taking out Auto Europe Excess Refund Insurance.
- Theft and Loss Cover: This limits your financial liability for the loss or theft of the rented vehicle and is generally included in the prepaid car rental price.
- Liability Insurance: This limits your financial liability for bodily injury or death, and is normally included in the prepaid car hire price.
- Personal Accident Insurance: This covers the driver for personal injuries and is generally not included in your car rental rate. It is considered an optional extra that you can take out upon collection of the car.

Auto Europe Excess Refund Insurance

When renting a vehicle, the rental rates include basic insurance. However, in the event that the vehicle is stolen or accidentally damaged, there is usually an insurance excess amount which the driver is liable to pay to the rental company. To avoid any unexpected costs opt for Auto Europe Excess Refund Insurance which will offer a reimbursement for the supplier's damage and theft excess to a maximum for AU$5,000. Simply add this onto your car rental booking prior to departure and you could save thousands of dollars in case of an accident. To find out more, simply call Auto Europe on 0800 885 052 or visit the Auto Europe website.

The Auto Europe Hire Car Excess Refund Insurance is managed by Accident & Health International Underwriting Pty Limited, ABN 26 053 335 952, AFSL 238261 and underwritten by CGU Insurance Limited, ABN 27 004 478 371, AFSL 238291.

Driving Rules in Germany

- Drive on the right side of the road, the driver sits on the left side of the vehicle.
- Be especially careful with overtaking on autobahns, as cars can approach very quickly from behind and Autobahns have no general speed limit but 130km/p/h is the advisory limit.
- In case of an accident, make sure you exchange details with the other driver or wait until police arrive. If you hit a parked car, you must wait for the police. Unlike some other parts of the world, leaving your details behind in a note is generally not acceptable and you may be charged with leaving the scene of an accident.
- In Germany there are a few things that must be kept in cars at all times, including a first aid kit and visibility vests in case of break down or accident. In general, rental companies will provide these materials with their cars, however this may not be the case if your trip begins in another country.
- The public transport in major German cities is excellent and will allow you to explore more on foot and save time and money trying to park in congested city centres. It is wise to save your driving time for the country roads and autobahns.
- Talking on a mobile phone while driving in Germany is illegal.
- Seatbelts must be worn at all times, by all passengers.
- Police in Germany will often collect fines for minor traffic offences on the spot. If you don't have enough cash, you can typically pay by credit card. If you are unwilling or unable to pay, it is likely that your vehicle will be impounded until you can pay. Alternatively, you may be issued a court date and/or a higher fine.
- Children under 12 years of age or under 1.5m in height are prohibited from sitting in the front seat of the vehicle and must be in the appropriate child seats (for babies and small children).
- Driving under the influence of alcohol is illegal in Germany; the blood alcohol concentration limit is 0.03.
- Speed Limits:
 - City roads: 50km/hr
 - Highways: 100km/hr for cars and 80km/hr for campervans and cars with trailers
 - Autobahn: no speed limit unless otherwise stated; recommended max speed on Autobahns is 130km/hr for cars and 80km/hr for campervans and cars with trailers

Licence Requirements

A full driving licence is required to drive in Germany. All drivers must have held a full valid driving licence for a minimum of one year. New Zealand residents are not required by law to have an international drivers licence, although it is recommended since an international licence holds more credibility with the local traffic police. Contact your local motoring association for further information.

Min & Max Age Requirements

The minimum age for drivers renting a car in Germany does vary, typically between 18-23. A young driver's surcharge which may apply to those under the age of 24. Generally there is no maximum age, as long as the renter is fit and okay to drive. Enquire with one of our reservations consultants for more information.

Cross Border Fees and One Way Rentals

Can I collect my rental car in one German city and drop it off in another city in Germany?

Yes, this is certainly possible. Generally there are no fees for one way rentals within Germany, but in some cases there may be a one way fee payable and a minimum rental duration when you collect your vehicle. Check with Auto Europe when you book regarding any additional costs.

Can I collect my rental car in Germany and drop it off in another European city?

International one ways are definitely possible however, as with any international one ways, this will incur a one way fee. Prices may vary depending on the supplier, the length of the rental and the drop off destination.

Can I collect my car in Germany, visit another European city, then return it to Germany?

Most car rental companies based in Germany will permit travel to other European cities without an additional charge as long as the vehicle is returned to Germany. However, there may be fees and additional insurances to travel to certain European countries, depending on the vehicle type and supplier. Some suppliers have restrictions for travel to Eastern Europe. Please confirm these details with Auto Europe as well as your supplier when you retrieve your vehicle in Germany.

How do I extend my rental after I've picked up the vehicle?

Once the car rental has commenced, you will have to call the depot where you initially collected the vehicle. If the vehicle is available to be extended, you will be offered additional days at the local rate.

Self Drive Tours: Eastern Germany

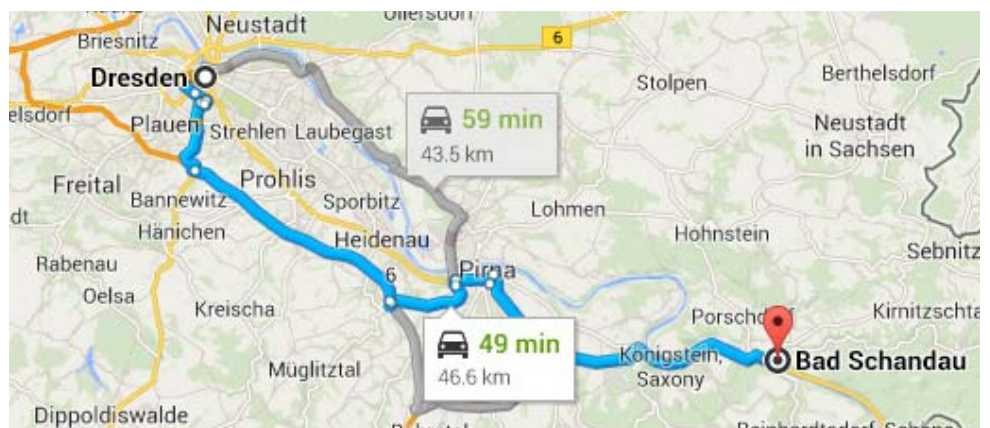

Potsdam to Leipzig

Explore the city of Potsdam, a true European city full of history and culture. Visit the city's famous palaces, the Dutch Quarter and the Weavers Quarters, as well as the Babelsberg Filmpark. From Potsdam, drive south toward the town of Michendorf, then west following the A10, then the A9 till you reach Dessau. Dessau is a beautiful town renowned for its architecture and parks, especially the Schloss and Park Georgium and the Schloss Luisium. Continue on through the wooded forests along the A9 until you reach Leipzig. This spectacular city is renowned for its many universities, historical buildings and monuments. The first stop is St. Thomas Church, where you can hear magnificent classical concerts and also visit the final resting place of Johann Sebastian Bach. Tour the city's summer markets, fantastic museums and impressive architecture, bar-hop in the Drallewatsch Pub District or relax in the Auenwald Forest.

Follow the Elbe River

This route follows the Elbe River from Dresden to Bad Schandau. Straight through, it takes just under an hour but there are many nice places to stop along the way if you choose to follow this route at a slower pace. From Dresden, cross the Elbe and drive along the S167 on the northern bank. At Copitz, cross the river again into Pirna and follow the A172 until you reach the spa town of Bad Schandau near the border of the Czech Republic. Take a ride up the Bad Schandau Elevator for great views of the area or ride the Kirnitzschtal Tramway to the Lichtenhain Waterfall. Take a tour on a paddle steamer along the Elbe for a different view or kick back and enjoy!

Money Matters

Currency

Euro (EUR €) = 100 cents (¢) Notes are in denominations of €500, €200, €100, €50, €20, €10, €5. Coins are in denominations of €1 and €2, 50, 20, 10, 5 and 1 cent coins.

Currency Exchange

Currency can be exchanged at several places, including banks, post offices, airports, large train stations, major hotels, and of course the Bureaux de Change (called “Wechselstube” or “Geldwechsel” in German). Banks are typically open 08:30-16:00 on weekdays and closed on the weekends. Some banks close for lunch from 12:30-13:30 and stay open until 17:00 or 18:00 on Thursdays only.

ATMs

ATMs (automatic teller machines) are located in almost all towns and cities, and are accessible 24 hours a day. ATMs typically accept all major credit and debit cards, though conversion rates may apply.

Credit & Debit Cards

Major credit and debit cards should be accepted throughout Germany, though some businesses may require cash. Contact your bank/credit card company before departure to inform them that you’ll be using your card in another country, and contact your them immediately if your credit card is lost or stolen.

Tax

As with most nations part of the EU, goods and services in Germany are subject to Value Added Tax (VAT). This is generally at a rate of 19% and applies to car rental extras such as baby seats or snow chains. Select consumer goods including food, public transport and accommodation, are set at a reduced VAT rate of 7%. Some services - generally government related like banks or healthcare - are VAT exempt.

Tipping

A service charge is generally included in the prices listed on menus in restaurants and bars etc., however it is still common for tips to be given. Tip approximately 10% or simply round up the bill (e.g. if your bill is €26, round up to €30). You will often not receive a bill in Germany. The common procedure is to state the amount you owe plus the amount you wish to tip. For example, if your bill comes to €13 and you would like to tip an extra €2, simply inform the waiter that you’d like to pay €15 and they will process the payment accordingly.

Stay Healthy & Stay Safe

Stay Healthy

The German medical system and hospitals are excellent, however New Zealand does not have a reciprocal health care agreement with Germany. Your comprehensive travel insurance should cover any medical costs, including medical evacuation. Make sure you understand the full extent of what is included in your travel insurance, otherwise you could face enormous hospital bills. You will need to hold on to all documentation of treatment to provide to your insurer for reimbursement. Check with your travel insurance provider for the name of any preferred, English speaking doctors that may be recommended.

Stay Safe

Germany is regarded as a very safe country to visit. However, standard safety precautions should be taken to avoid dangerous areas or high risk situations. Never carrying more cash than necessary and keep to well-lit areas at night. It is always a good idea to check the New Zealand Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade website for safety information specific to your destination before you go. In the unlikely event that your credit or debit cards are lost or stolen, notify your bank and credit card companies immediately.

In case of an emergency, dial 112 for medical and fire or 110 for police.
